

Tell Congress, NOW is the Time for Health Care Reform

Both the House and Senate have passed health care reform but the process stalled until recently, when President Obama laid out his plan to move forward calling for a straight up or down vote. The time is NOW, this our last chance at meaningful health care reform and EVERY vote counts. We can't afford to let another generation pass before taking up the fight again. Just because you don't have a front row seat in the action doesn't mean you can't speak out and let your Senators and Representative know how important health reform is to you. Just pick up the phone.

Talking Points:

The best talking points are the ones that reflect your own experience, and no one can write them for you. Just in case you need some help getting started, here are some messages to use as a guide when you call your Members of Congress:

- We can't afford to wait for Health Care Reform—we need Congress to pass a meaningful reform with a final up or down vote NOW.
- In order to be successful in transforming our nation's health care system, we must have a holistic workforce policy that fully recognizes the vital role of nurses and other health care providers.
- We need to put an end to refusing insurance for pre-existing conditions and life time caps on coverage.
- Everyone deserves the freedom to choose a variety of affordable, quality health care plans that include the same types of benefits that you get as members of Congress.
